Books: Marina's flip-flop

I 9/14/77

According to our source in the Big Apple, some blue-penciling is being done by editors at Harper & Row before Marina Oswald's controversial book, "Marina and Lee," hits the racks. For example, Marina told the Warren Commission that her husband, Lee Harvey Oswald, alleged assassin of JFK, was "no man . . . no good in bed." Has Marina had a change of heart? It seems that way. In her book, she will now talk about the fact that Lee was what you'd call gung-ho in matters of sex.
